

Words of Comfort from Ryan

Everything is going to be alright
When Granddaddy died, we ain't lose our fight
Like the Black Panther, we close our hands tight
Lyrics by Ryan "Ryan King" Bradley from
Song for My Mama

Life Reflections

Ryan Eugene Bradley, born on September 23, 1987, in Gastonia, NC, departed this world on April 2, 2025. He was born to the late Robert Eugene Currence and Lavonia Bradley.

Ryan graduated from Forest View High School and attended Winston Salem State University. He was an enthusiastic youth participant in AAU Track. As an adult, he coached his son's recreation basketball team.

Ryan was a talented rapper who initially went by the nickname "Smurf" before adopting the moniker "Ryan King." His skills in rapping were recognized and celebrated, culminating in his proud victory at the BET Spring Fest Rap Contest. Ryan's musical journey reflected his creativity and dedication to his craft, leaving a lasting impact on those who appreciated his talent.

Known for his talkative nature, Ryan possessed an infectious smile that could brighten anyone's day. His sociable personality and good sense of humor made him a cherished friend to many. Ryan's love for sports was evident throughout his life, and his skills as a gamer were admired by all who knew him. Above all, Ryan loved his children dearly.

He leaves behind a host of relatives, including his grandparents, Bernice Mattox Currence, Richard and Frances Hill, and Thomas and Marice "Maw Maw" Adams. Ryan is survived by his son, Rylan King James Bradley, daughter, Evie-Mae Ry'ell Bradley, and brother, Jaxon McLendon. Additionally, he is remembered by aunts, Nikki Adams, Michelle Adams, Lindsay "My Twin" (Garland) Jones; uncles, Randy (Octavia) Currence, Ronald (Jeannetta) Currence, Roderick (Alberta) Wilson, Shawn (Shamika) Hill, Lamont (Rasheda) Hill, Chad Hill, Christopher Williams, and a large extended family including great aunts, uncles, and many cousins and friends.
