OBITUARY

ALVIN DIXON was born on June 22, 1956, to Maggie Dixon and Alvin Jones in Burke County, Georgia. In 1975, Mr. Dixon graduated from the Academy of Richmond County. Shortly after graduating he joined the Air Force where he aimed high to serve his country. While in the military, Mr. Dixon pursued a career in boxing. He received many awards and trophies. The highlight of his boxing career took place from 1975 to the early 1980s while he was stationed at Robins Air Force Base in Warner Robins, Georgia. Mr. Alvin Dixon received much recognition during his boxing career from the well-known Georgia Golden Gloves Association. His military career later took him to Germany where he continued to box.

In 1984, Mr. Dixon returned home to Augusta, Georgia. He decided to make Jesus his Lord and Savior in 1990. He became a faithful member of World Outreach Evangelistic Church where he diligently helped to keep the church grounds beautiful. In addition to serving in his church, Mr. Dixon was a member of the Weed & Seed Community Outreach Program in his neighborhood.

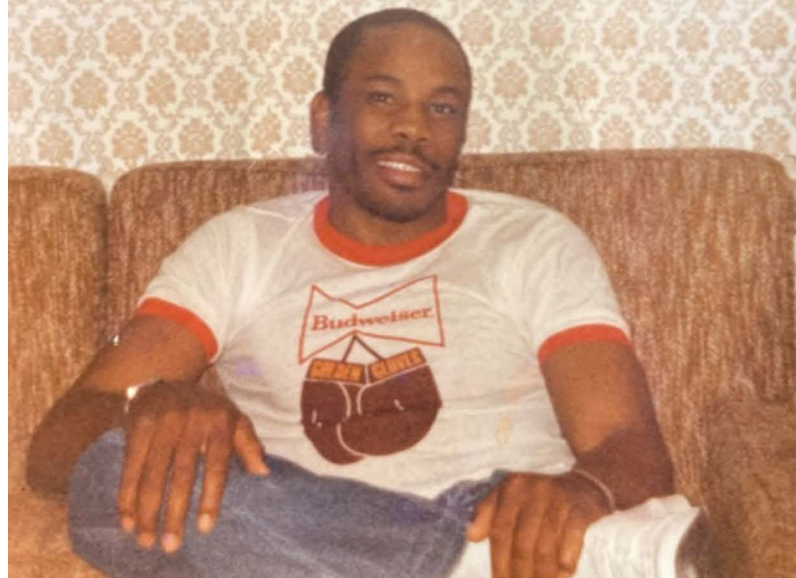

One of his greatest hobbies was taking pictures of family members, friends, and church members. He was often seen with a camera in his hand especially during church services and various programs. Thanks to Mr. Dixon many individuals have wonderful photographs highlighting precious memories.

Mr. Dixon contributed much to the world and community. He was a man of great integrity, worthy of honor and appreciation. He was a humanitarian, a military man, and best of all, a man after God's heart.

Alvin Dixon's legacy will be cherished by: his sisters, Linda (Fredrick) Prophet of Augusta, GA, Caroline Alexander of Augusta, GA and Mattie Robinson of Augusta, GA; brother, McCall (Joann) Dixon of Augusta, GA; and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, and close friends.
