THE SITUATION

Today we gather not only in sorrow, but in celebration because Andrea Williams was not ordinary. She was unforgettable. She was and is the one and only Ms. Situation. Andrea was the show, she didn't walk into a room – she arrived, she didn't blend in she shined.

Andrea S. Williams was born on August 15, 1996 in Fort Lauderdale, FL to her loving parents Chante Branch and Andrew Williams. She was the oldest of her two siblings. Her adolescent years she attended Lauderdale Manors Elementary, Arthur Ashe Middle, then soon off to high school at Whiddon Rogers and Dillard High School where she later graduated in 2015. Andrea also known as Ms. Situation she loved the cloak-the spot light, the presence – the energy of being seen or felt. Later on she met the love of her life TJ. She loved him dearly. They were inseparable and shared many loving memories with one another. TJ was her number one supporter when it came to her battle with Lupus.

Andrea was the best auntie ever – fiercely, loving, playful and very protective over her niece as she was her own. Her love for Chanel was undeniable. She loved, cherished and looked up to her loving uncles: Anthony and Rasheed, and her auntie Eboni. She loved calling her Grammy for her recipes to cook her for her loved one's to enjoy. Her family meant everything to her cousins, nephews, her sisters: Navisha and Danisha were part of her soul.

The bond with her mother is something words cannot fully capture – a connection that does not end here.

On February 14, 2026 Andrea S. Williams departed from this life. She leaves behind a life time of memories her parents: Chante Branch and Andrew Williams, Jr.; her boyfriend: Trellis McCloud; her sisters: Navisha Sapp and Danisha Sapp; her great grandparents: Evelyn Knowles (Grammy); her grandparents: Melvin Branch, Andrew Williams, Sr. and Queen Y. Tillman; her uncles: Anthony Golphin, Rasheed Golphin and Lamont Branch; her aunts: Eboni Lovett, Sheila Campbell, Latavia White and Queen V. Wright and a host of aunties, uncles, cousins and friends.

Andrea was everything – the laughter, the energy, the style, the boldness, the warmth, and while today our hearts ache because her physical presence is gone, her light has not gone out. Lights like Andrea's don't go out, they transfer, they live in memorie, they live in stories, they live in the way we laugh a little louder because that's what she would've done.

Though lupus touched her body, it never touched her heart, Andrea was the show. Andrea was the light. Andrea was love and the Light will never dim.

Recessional

I want to start by saying thank you to everyone who is here today. It truly means so much to see how many people loved Andrea and cared about her. Your presence is a reflection of the impact she had on so many lives. Growing up with Andrea means I have a lifetime of memories, moments of laughter, late night talks, and shared looks across a room that only siblings understand. It's impossible to choose just one memory because she was there into every stage of my life. She wasn't just part of my story, she helped shape it. Growing up with her shaped who I am. She taught me about loyalty, about strength, and about finding light even on hard days. Andrea was very strong. Strong in the way she carried herself. Strong in the way she protected the people she loved. Strong in the way she kept going, even when life was difficult. She showed me what resilience looks like. She showed me what unconditional love looks like. She always wanted to help. That's just who she was. She made sure everyone around her was good. She checked in. She showed up. She made sure you had what you needed. She carried people when they were tired. She had this natural instinct to protect and support the people she loved. And if you knew Andrea, you also knew that sometimes the way she told you she loved you... was by talking a little trash. That was her love language. If she was teasing you, joking on you, or giving you a hard time, that meant you were her person. That meant you mattered. That meant she loved you. And she loved hard. She was strong in her heart. Strong in her loyalty. Strong in the way she forgave. She didn't hold grudges. She didn't stay mad. She loved everybody, truly. She didn't let pride get in the way of connection. If she cared about you, she cared about you fully. I will miss her every single day. But I am so grateful that I got to be her sibling. That I got to share a lifetime of memories, laughter, and love with her. Andrea wasn't just part of my life, she was one of the greatest parts of it. And I will carry her with me, always. So until we meet again Drea watch over me and protect me. I love you always and forever.

From-Danisha Sapp (Sister)

To my sweet dearest sister, oh how I'm going to miss your voice and your bright smile. Mommy always taught us how to stick together but she never taught us how to live without one another. I never in a million years thought I would have to prepare for this day so soon, but I know GOD needed your precious spirit more than I ever did. I know you are going to be Chanel guardian angel and your presence will never be forgotten. I will always love you for life and after. Until we meet again, I will always be lil big sis

Love always, Navisha

If Tears Could Build a Stairway

If tears could build a stairway
And memories were a lane
I would walk right up to heaven
And bring you back again
No farewell words were spoken
No time to say goodbye
You were gone before I knew it
And only God knows why
My heart still aches with sadness
And secret tears still flow
What it meant to lose you
No one will ever know
But now I know you want me
To mourn for you no more
To remember all the happy times
Life still has much in store
Since you'll never be forgotten
I pledge to you today
A hallowed place within my heart
Is where you'll always stay
