The Obituary

Mrs. Flora J. Hendricks Ross, daughter of Ms. Annie Mae Hendricks and the late Mr. James A. Crawford was born June 1, 1966, in Troy, Alabama.

From her earliest years, Flora embodied a spirit of devotion and kindness. She began her spiritual journey at First Missionary Baptist Church in Troy, Alabama, where she was an enthusiastic member of the youth and adult ministries. Her steadfast faith continued to shine as she served with grace as a Deaconess and Usher at Greater Peace Missionary Baptist Church in Opelika, Alabama.

Their marriage stood as a testament to unwavering commitment and unconditional love, highlighting the deep and enduring bond they shared throughout their lives.

Called to serve others, Flora spent her professional life as a customer service representative and sales associate assisting and supporting the patrons of the businesses where she was employed. For the last 12 years, she worked at Walgreens in Opelika, Alabama.

On Tuesday, August 13, 2024, she departed this life in the Palliative and Comfort Care Unit at the University of Alabama at Birmingham Hospital in Birmingham, Alabama. She was preceded in death by her father, Mr. James A. Crawford, grandmother, Mary Lee Carlisle; and two nephews, Travis Antonio Stringer and Rashad Johnson.

To carry on her memory, she is survived by: a loving and devoted husband, Joe L.
