- The Obituary -

John Eddie “Lett” Moore, a cherished soul whose life was a testament to strength, courage, and a joyous spirit, passed away peacefully on January 12, 2025, in Montgomery, Alabama. Born on September 1, 1945, in Lee County, Alabama, to the late Mr. James Clay and Mrs. Fannie Mae Theney Moore, John’s life journey was one of unwavering faith, love for his family, and dedication to his country.

John’s early life was rooted in the close-knit community of Loachapoka, Alabama, where he nurtured his spiritual life at Pleasant View Baptist Church. It was here that he confessed Christ and became a beacon of light and guidance for those around him. His commitment to his faith remained a cornerstone throughout his life, providing him with solace and strength in times of both joy and adversity.

Affectionately known as “Lett” by those who knew him best, John possessed a warm and inviting personality that drew people to him. His laughter was infectious, his advice sought after, and his presence a comfort to friends and family alike. An avid collector of cars and an enthusiasm of western shows, John found simple pleasures in the hobbies he loved, sharing stories and creating memories that will be treasured by those left behind.

John’s wisdom was hard-earned and reflected the breadth of his life experiences, including his honorable service in the United States Army. He fought courageously in the Vietnam War, demonstrating a bravery and patriotism that would define much of his life’s narrative. His military service was a source of great pride for John, and he was well respected within the veteran community for his contributions and comradeship.

John’s passing leaves a void in the hearts of those who knew him, yet his spirit endures in the laughter of his friends, the resilience of his family, and the indelible mark he left on the world. His life was a portrait of honor, friendship, and the quiet strength that defines the human spirit.

As we bid farewell to John Eddie “Lett” Moore, we celebrate a life lived to its fullest, a journey marked by compassion, service, and an unshakeable faith. His story does not end here, for it continues in the lives of those he inspired, the community he served, and the love he shared so generously.

John’s memory will be forever etched in the annals of time, a reminder of the profound impact one life can have. We take solace in the knowledge that his spirit has found peace and that his legacy will continue to guide us in the days to come. Despite the loss of his beloved siblings, Ernestine Smith and Melvin Moore, John’s legacy is carried forward through the lives he touched and the family he adored.

He leaves to cherish his precious memory: three sisters, Mary Cole, Olivia Moore both of Syracuse, NY and Dianne (Cornell) Mason of Montgomery, AL; two brothers, James Frank (Carolyn) Moore of Auburn, AL and Donald (Abena) Moore of Atlanta, GA; two aunts, Irene Hill of Denver, CO and Barbara Howard of Auburn, AL; one uncle, Jessie Combs of Loachapoka, AL; three special friends, Willie Mae Hodo, Judy Lockhart and Johnny Phillips; a host of nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.

- The Broken Chain -

We didn’t know that morning,
God was going to call your frame --
In life we love you dearly
In death we do the same.
It broke our hearts to lose you.
You did not go alone,
For part of us went with you
The day God called you home.
You left us beautiful memories,
Your love is still our guide,
And though we cannot see you,
You are always by our side.
Our family chain is broken,
And nothing seems the same,
But as God calls us one by one
The chain will link again.
