TRIBUTE TO MY MOTHER - IN- LOVE

The Echo of Your Name

The silence rings, a hollow space, where once your laughter filled the place. I see your face in photographs, but hear no more of your gentle laughs. Your hand, so warm, now feels so cold. A story left, yet to unfold. Your absence haunts, a constant ache, A love I'll never quite forsake. But memories bloom, a vibrant hue, of all the times, just me and you. The lessons learned, the guiding light, will keep you shining, day and night. Your echo lives within my soul, A love that makes me strong and whole. Though grief may linger, and tears may fall, I'll carry you beyond the wall.

TRIBUTE TO MY GRAMMY

I love you to the moon and back. You did all that you could do for us. Even when I knew you couldn't. I will always remember when you would play Monopoly with me and TJ, or just sometimes just with me, every time I would bankrupt you, you would always say the best thing, "Did you even read the instructions to make sure we are playing right?". I was just good at the game. Whenever I returned from gymnastics, you always said, "Did you do anything new?". Sometimes you could make it to my practices, and I loved that you came to see me, the last thing I want to say is that wherever I go you will always be with me I promise never to forget you and to always cherish the time that we had, watching the masked singer won't be the same without you. I love you, Grammy.

TRIBUTE TO MY GRAMMY

I love you, Grammy. You are my heart star and my best Grammy. I'm going to miss playing with you and beating you in tennis on the Nintendo. I love you, grandma, so much. I will miss talking to you about playing football and you asking me about football practice. And if I tackled anyone down (because I always do), or when you let me eat all the cookies I wanted when I stayed home from school. I love you, grandma; you are the best!

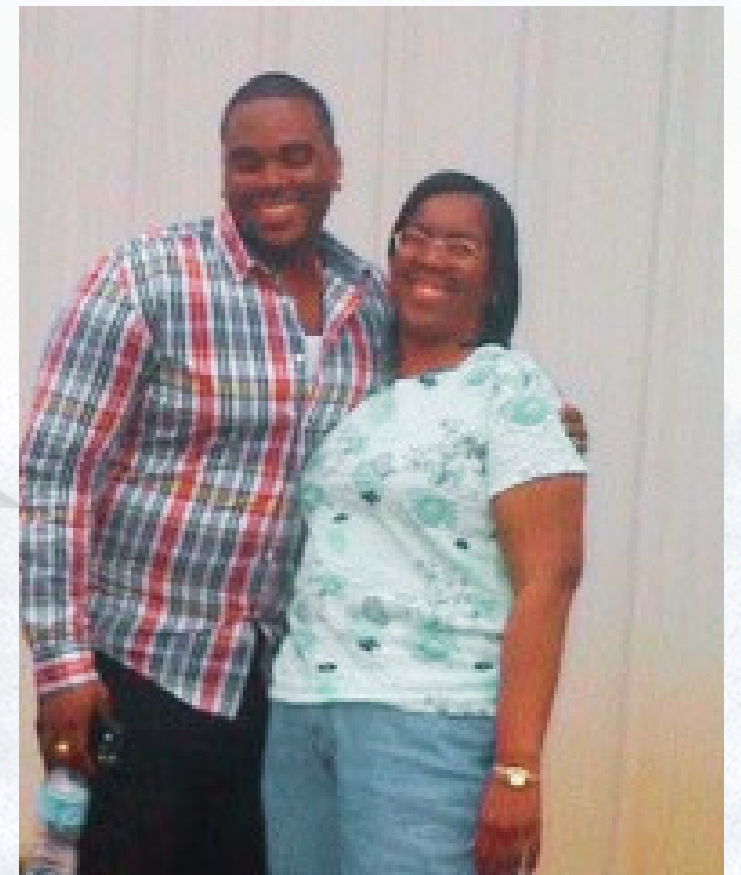

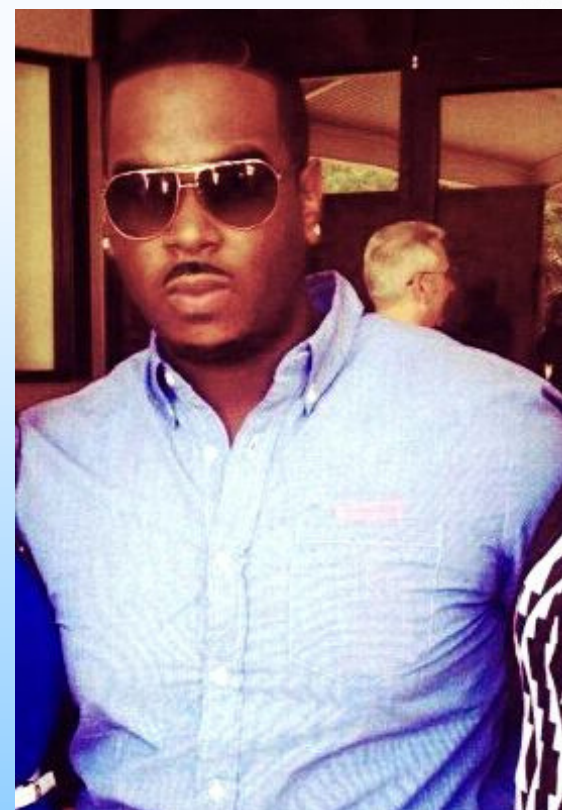

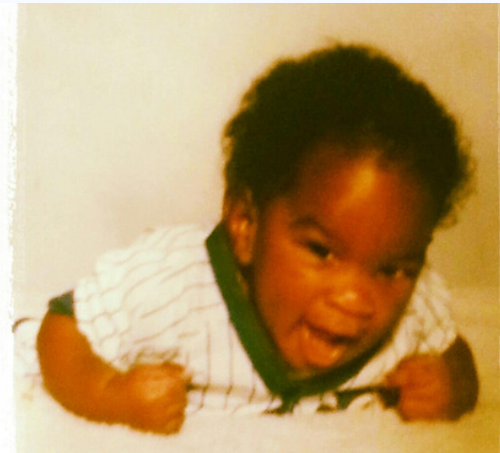

Forever IN MY HEART

TRIBUTE TO MY MOTHER

I love you and miss you already. Trying to force myself to focus on all the good times. Didn't expect life would cheat me out of more time with you. But I'm forever thankful I finally convinced you to move to Texas with me and my family. I know how independent you were, I see where I get it from, and I know you didn't care much for receiving help, but I'm glad you allowed me and my wife to assist you during your rough times. You have done so much for me, it was the least I could do to pay you back. I watched you work hard to make sure I was good, and the best repayment was seeing you interact with your grandchildren; it brought a ton of joy to my heart. I'm glad they were able to build that bond with you, and I'll make sure that your name forever lives on and will never be forgotten. Just know my goal in life is to continue making you proud of me and live an honest life, raising your grandchildren with my beautiful wife. Thanks for raising me into the man that I am today. All thanks are due to you, and I'm grateful for that. Sleep in peace, my beautiful mother. This isn't goodbye, but see you later. I love you, Ma.
