A Synopsis of Life

JURIA DEAN JACKSON HAWKINS

Juria Dean Jackson Hawkins was born on January 25, 1949, in Terrell County, Georgia, to the late Joseph L. Jackson, Sr., and the late Leona Marshall Jackson. Juria Dean—our beloved mother, sister, aunt, grandmother, great-grandmother, and friend—passed away peacefully on Friday, November 28, 2025, at her daughter and son-in-law's home in Columbus, GA, surrounded by family.

At an early age she joined St. Mary Free Will Baptist Church on Graves Road in Dawson, GA, under the leadership of Rev. J. W. Williams. Juria Dean was raised in a Christian, loving home filled with strong values. From an early age she showed a curious mind and a creative spark that continued to shape her life and those around her. Along with Jeannette's father, Willie Lee Baisden, Juria Dean approached motherhood with endless devotion. She poured her heart into her only child with quiet strength and a spirit of encouragement that reflected God's grace.

She later married Eddie Hawkins on August 18, 1980, and they remained in holy matrimony for several years. Years later, after Eddie's death, Juria Dean moved back home to Dawson, GA. She was preceded in death by her brothers J. C. Jackson and Joseph Lee Jackson, Jr.

Precious memories of Juria Dean will forever be cherished by her loving, devoted, and beautiful daughter Jeannette Harvey (Herman); Jimmy Lee Grier of Hinesville, GA, whom she loved as a son; her grandchildren Kayla, Sheliah, and Desmond Harvey of Columbus, GA, and Naziah Harvey of Bronwood, GA; her siblings Mary Jackson James (Nathaniel, deceased) of Dawson, GA; Rosie Jackson Pittman (Tommy, deceased) of Middletown, NY; Frankie Jackson Brown (Arthur Dean, deceased), Clifford Jackson, and Marvin Jackson (Ursula, deceased) of Atlanta, GA; Sharon Jackson Pittman (Don, Jr.) of Dawson, GA; and a bonus sister, Virginia D. Parker of Albany, GA. She is also remembered by three devoted nieces, Charmaine Alexander (Rev. James, Sr.) and Bonnie Brown (Calvin), and by Vicki Lowery (Wayne, deceased); faithful great-grandchildren Terrelle Lango (Adrian), Aniyah Crapp, John Wood (Kaitlyn), Gregory Crapp, Keonna Crapp, and Trikeria Addie (Katrina); and many other nieces, nephews, cousins, and friends. Best friends for many years were Lula Weaver and Patricia Callaway Lee; companion Eddie Buchanan; as well as her blended family — grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and great-great-grandchildren.

A Daughter's Love

In tender moments and quiet days,
Your love shone brightly in countless ways.

A gentle soul with a heart so true,
Dedicated, caring—through and through.

You held her hand with steadfast grace,
A loving smile upon your face.
Through every tear, through every prayer,
Your devotion showed how much you care.

Your spirit radiant, pure and bright,
Guided her with your gentle light.

A bond unspoken, strong and deep,
A love that time and space can't keep.
Though she's gone, her memory lives

In all the love your heart gives.

A daughter so special, forever true—

A beacon of love, shining through.

Nette, thank you for being a loving and respectful daughter.

I love you,
Auntie Sharon
