Recessional Glory to Glory by Fred Hammond

As usual mom, you shocked us all!

To many, you were a friend, a confidant, an ear when no one was listening.

But to us, you were that and everything more.

From the memories of reading "Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory" while eating pork rinds to our many adventures looking for the perfect donut. You've been there every step of the way.

You gave us precious tools, tools that we will continue to use.

You prepared us for such a time as this and for that and everything, we say Thank You, Mommy. Thank you for the good times and the hard lessons. Thank you for the knowledge.

Thank you for showing us how to Heal out Loud.

We love and miss you so much, Mom.

Until we meet again,

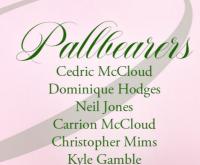

I have only known my friend Cel for four years, yet our friendship was as solid as if we had known each other our entire lives. We even called each other sister. We don't often get to tell our friends how special they are to us, we always think we have time. I was fortunate enough to have an opportunity to tell Cel about the joy she brought to the dreary place we worked in. Cel radiated sunshine and happiness. She was a magnet who drew people into her warm embrace. She was having a difficult time with someone who did not welcome the changes brought on by Cel's mere presence. So, I explained, people often dislike what they don't understand. Although this situation brought her extreme discomfort, it never once strayed her from her faith in God. I miss you Sister, there is a deep hole in my heart now that you are gone, but the sunshine you brought to me will even outshine my loss. I am so blessed to have had you in my life.

Psalms 1

Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the LORD; and in his law doth he meditate day and night. And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper. The ungodly are not so: but are like the chaff which the wind driveth away. Therefore, the ungodly shall not stand in the judgment, nor sinners in the congregation of the righteous. For the LORD knoweth the way of the righteous: but the way of the ungodly shall perish.

Acknowledgements

It is with much gratitude and gratefulness we extend our sincere appreciation to all of you for the flowers, food, words of encouragement, and most of all, your prayers. May the light of God surround you, the love of God enfold you and the peace of God protect you.
