

FOREVER IN OUR HEARTS...

Fay LEE HARRIS

Acknowledgements

Words cannot appropriately express our heartfelt gratitude for all your loving kindness shown to us during Fay Lee Harris' illness. Your calls, visits, meals, flowers, cards, moral & spiritual support, and words of encouragement will forever be remembered. Your expressions of sympathy for our mutual loss continues to be comforting. Especially have your prayers moved us to show ourselves how thankful we are in prayers on your behalf.

We would further like to thank each spiritual family member, nurse, and caregiver who aided our beloved Fay during her illness. Your selflessness seen and unseen will be rewarded.
(Proverbs 19:17)

"May Jehovah reward the way you act, and may there come to be a perfect wage for you from Jehovah..." (Ruth 2:12)

Sincerely,

The Family

Ms. Fay Lee Harris was born on July 22, 1943, to Dan Harris and Reola Green in Memphis, Tennessee. She fell asleep in death on Sunday, March 9, 2025.

Fay was educated in Jacksonville, Florida and graduated from Northwestern High School in June of 1961. After high school, she pursued her passion for cooking and completed Culinary School as a chef. Fay was a renowned cook, recognized for her delicious meals made with love. In parallel, Fay Lee found fulfillment in pursuing a career in beauty. Her lifetime profession as a Licensed Cosmetologist gave her the opportunity to help her clientele feel their best.

For thirty-three years Fay enhanced the lives of clients, family and friends until her health began to decline. During that time, she forged lifelong friendships and connections. While Fay was known to many as an amazingly talented hairstylist, to a few she was simply known as momma and grandma. Fay's love for her children extended to her grandchildren, one of whom she primarily reared. Her love for her family and friends was expansive.

The most important milestone in Fay's life was her dedication and baptism as one of Jehovah's Witnesses on September 9, 1995. Fay faithfully attended meetings with the Midtown Congregation. She confidently knew that her heavenly Father would feed her spiritually at meetings and give her love through the congregation. (Hebrews 10:24-25) Fay often encouraged others to find peace and comfort in a relationship with Jehovah. (Psalm 29:11)

Fay was diagnosed with lung cancer in 2017 although she never smoked. She used the next eight years to focus on the joy set before her. (Hebrews 12:2) Her endurance was fueled by her faith in Jehovah and His promises of her guaranteed resurrection. As her family watched her physical decline, they saw her spiritual strength increase. As she rests in Jehovah's memory, her life can serve as an example of living a life of purpose.

Our Fay will be remembered as funny, witty, warm-hearted, loving and supportive. She will especially be remembered by her family, classmates, friends and spiritual family.

Fay was preceded in death by her father: Dan Harris; mother: Reola (Green) Caldwell; sister: Dorothy Ann Burks and special cousin: Evelyn Poole.

Fay is survived by her daughters: Angelia Koon and Terri Morrison; sons: Orion Caldwell (Natasha), Gary Scale (Jennifer), and David Packer, IV; granddaughters: Tiara Morrison, Kierstan Snyder, Kamauri Whaley, Demetria Howell, Naveah Parker, Chanice Packer, Camryn Morrison and Destiny Scale; grandsons: Brandon Thompson, Marcus Scale, Gabriel James, Desmond King, David C. Packer, V and Jeremiah Morrison; great-granddaughters: Anastasia Thompson, Taylar Sanders and London Felton; great-grandson: Tyler Sanders, and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins and friends including: Elaine Davis, Ann Benn, Pauletta Tave, Juanita Wright, Clausel Rivers, Thomas Webb, and Christine Nason.
