

CELEBRATION OF LIFE FOR

A LETTER TO MY GRANDMA

Grandma, we hold you close within our hearts, and there you shall remain, to walk with us throughout our lives, until we meet again.
So, rest in peace my love, and thanks for all you've done. We know that God has given you, the crown you've finally won.

THE

JOYCE

Joyce Banks was born on June 28, 1944, in Atlanta, Georgia, to John-Wesley and Elizabeth Warrick. She received her early education at Northwestern Middle School and later attended Stanton Vocational High School.

Joyce spent many years working as a dedicated housekeeper before retiring, a season of life she embraced with joy for nearly two decades. She faithfully served her community through her long-standing affiliation with One Love Christian Center, where she volunteered for many years, and she was a proud and active member of Christian United Baptist Church.

To know Joyce was to know joy. She loved life and lived it to the fullest. She cherished gathering with friends to play cards, treasured every moment with her family, and had a natural gift for being the life of the party. Her front porch was her daily retreat, a place where she could enjoy the breeze, watch the world go by, and greet neighbors with her warm smile.

Joyce had a heart for nurturing others, especially through her cooking. Feeding family, friends, and anyone who stopped by brought her true happiness. She also found peace in tending her garden, cultivating beauty and life with her own hands. Ever active and spirited, she even enjoyed taking bicycle rides well into her later years.

She was preceded in death by her parents: John-Wesley and Elizabeth Warrick and siblings: John-Wesley Warrick, Jr., and Marge Elaine Williams.

Left to carry on her legacy of love and laughter are her children: Teresa Banks; stepchildren: Sam L. Cothron, Jr. and Reneé Cothron; grandchildren: Tiffany Sapp and Jormeka Meade; great-grandchildren: A'Shayla Sapp, Josiah Simmons, Zymire Simmons and Nathaniel Green; brothers: Samuel Warrick, Nathaniel Warrick, Erskin Warrick and Marvin Warrick; sisters: Cynthia Warrick, Phalandra Boyd (Quincy) and Anna Warrick; longtime partner: Henry Henderson and a host of nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.

Joyce's love, energy, and laughter touched all who knew her. Her memory will forever remain a blessing to those whose lives she brightened.
