

A Letter From “Bro”

I’ve driven highways and byways near and far, but my greatest ride was life with you.

I’ve created miles of memories that will forever be dear and true.

I’ve had days of oiled up clothes and grease-stained hands.

When it came to using ratchets and mechanic work, I was the go-to man.

When the tears begin to flow rest in knowing that I’m in a better place.

For my life was well lived, and I conquered life’s race.

My time in the kitchen was filled with satisfying tastebuds.

Whipping up baked sweets, grilling divine meats and more was embedded in my blood.

Sorry that I didn’t say see you later or goodbye. I know that some days will be tough, and it’s ok to cry.

Family and friends, you’ve made this life worth living.

I may be physically out of sight.

Remember I’m forever with you, morning, noon and night.

REMEMBERING Herman

Herman "Bro" Robinson was born on February 3, 1945, to the late to Mr. Gaines Robinson and Mrs. Fannie Grace Smith Robinson.

Herman was a hard-working man. He was the owner and operator of Robinson Trucking. He worked for Lamar County Public Works as a Diesel Mechanic, to his family and friends as a very trusted and dedicated mechanic. His work ethic and pride in his craft were evident to all who knew him.

Beyond his professional endeavors, Herman had a passion for farming and gardening. Herman was renowned for his skills as a "BBQ Pit Master." He not only mastered the art of cooking but also had an exceptional talent for building grills and creating flavorful BBQ sauces that delighted many. These talents became part of his legacy, bringing people together over good food and cherished memories.

Herman was preceded in death by his parents; his loving wife, Lizzie Lenora Robinson; siblings: Peggy Robinson, Johnny Robinson, Martha Crawley, Betty Phinazee and Harry Robinson; as well as two grandchildren, Tatree Lyons and Jaylen Walker.

A man of faith, Herman devoted his life to Christ and was a proud member of Sardis Baptist Church. His faith guided him throughout his life and provided comfort to those around him.
