DON'T...

Don't spend too much time in mourning – tears are for the sad. I left to be with Jesus, this should make you glad!

Don't waste your hours grieving, there's no need to feel distress. I'm tired of life frustrations, I had to get some rest.

Don't vex yourself with questions, or try to reason why? Life, for me here, has ended, it came my time to die.

Don't lose the love I gave to you, feed it with your care, Grow it with devotion and spread it everywhere!

The Life & Legacy of Kenneth Cardel Page

In loving memory of Kenneth Page, we celebrate his life with gratitude and fond remembrance. Born on December 1, 1955, in Youngstown, OH, to the union of William Page and Grace Page, Kenny passed away on July 10, 2024, surrounded by loved one.

A graduate of South High School, he furthered his academic pursuits at Youngstown State University in social work. His employment at Second Harvest Food Bank echoed his commitment to serve others. Known for his infectious smile and magnetic personality, Kenny embodied a zest for life. As a loyal Dallas Cowboys fan and aficionado of classic cars, especially Cadillacs, he embraced each day with flair and enthusiasm. His love for dance and music resonated deeply, connecting him with others in shared joy.

A devoted patriarch and eldest brother, Kenneth bestowed his wisdom upon his family and established bonds with his grandsons. His relationship with his grandsons was no secret, especially as they exchanged special handshakes which they created. Through life's twists and turns, Kenny stood as a beacon of guidance and support, embodying the mantra "My family got me."

Kenneth's legacy will remain vibrant among his daughters Kenisha Kellie and Tamika Kellie, grandsons Kristopher Helms and Kabrien Williams, siblings Wanda (Roger) Taylor, Elflicia Miller, Keith Page, and Ronald Page, along with an expansive score of family and friends. Their hearts are heavy with loss, but full of the love Kenneth shared with them throughout his life.

As Kenneth crossed into eternity; he was greeted by his parents and brother William "PeeWee" Page who preceded him. Now among the ancestors Kenny is at peace knowing his presence remains in the hearts of those who love him.

As we gather to honor Kenneth's memory, let us reflect on the wisdom he imparted, the joy he shared, and the love that he inspired. In his life, we find a lesson to savor each moment, embrace our passions, and cherish the bonds that tie us together. Though he may have left this world in body, his essence remains woven into the fabric of our lives, an eternal reminder of the beauty of his presence.
