An Ode to George “Our Angel in the Outfield”

In loving memory of a true character,
George Owen McMillan Jr., a gentle soul born
On February 26, 1952, in Sharon, PA,
Left this earthly realm on January 14, 2026.
He is now at peace, joining the embrace of his Beloved parents, Eula and George McMillan Sr.

A product of Farrell High, where he played the game,
He worked with pride at General Motors,
Crafting dreams on wheels in Lordstown, OH.
A young man once full of vigor,
He even explored the thrill of being a jockey.
But beyond the factory floor and the racetrack,
George lived life to the fullest, filled with laughter and love.

A devoted member of Ruth African Methodist Episcopal Church,
He found solace in faith and community.
Known for his vibrant spirit, George loved life’s simple joys—
Pool games, grand moments at the batting cages,
Cruising the highways in stylish rides,
And dressing to impress, always looking fly.
He savored ribs, banana splits, and the thrill of Chinese takeout,
Rounding it all off with a refreshing Coke.
From rooting for the Indians to traveling “down south,”
His heart was big, his generosity known to all.

He leaves behind a legacy sprinkled with love,
His children, Melissa and Christopher Bryant,
Georgette and Angelic McMillan,
And grandchildren—Romeo, Leilani, Charles, and Giani—
All carrying pieces of George in their laughter and hearts

Celebrating A Life Well Lived

The Life & Legacy Of

George Owen McMillan Jr.

George Owen McMillan Jr., the beloved son of Eula G. Stanley McMillan & George O. McMillan Sr. was born on February 26, 1952, in Sharon, PA. George obtained his ultimate healing, departing this earthly life to eternal rest on January 14, 2026.

George's journey began in Farrell, PA, where he graduated from Farrell Area High School, showing his prowess not just in academics but also as a spirited football player. His professional life was spent at General Motors in Lordstown, OH, where he dedicated himself to the fabrication and manufacturing of vehicles. Interestingly, in his younger days, he even took a turn as a horse jockey – always one for the thrill of life.

George's love for God was without question. A faithful member of the Ruth African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, George embodied faith and community spirit. He believed and practiced the act of tithing to the local church to sustain its ministry and outreach to the community.

His joys were simple yet profound: whether he was shooting pool, hitting the batting cages with his grandkids, taking long drives in his cars, entertaining the ladies or just kicking back with a plate of ribs or a banana split, he embraced every moment.

An aficionado of Coke and softball/baseball, George was a lover and avid supporter of the Cleveland Browns until the last month of his life.

George was all about enjoying life to the fullest and sharing that joy with those around him. A giver by nature, he generously blessed others with the gift of his time, talents and treasury. A style enthusiast, he loved to dress to impress. He appreciated his frequent ventures “down south” to North Carolina.

George leaves precious memories among his cherished children Melissa Bryant, Christopher Bryant, Georgette McMillan, and Angelic McMillan, all residing in Farrell PA. His legacy will be forged by his cherished grandchildren: Romeo Jackson, Leilani Bryant, Charles Green III, and Giani Scott.

As George's faith became sight, he joins the great cloud of witnesses which also includes his loving parents, Eula and George McMillan Sr., who awaited him in eternity. As we bid farewell to a dear friend, father, and grandfather, let's carry forward the light he brought into the lives of many. George will be deeply missed and fondly remembered.
